I am currently reading “Why Some Positive Thinkers Get Powerful Results” by Norman Vincent Peale. Dr. Peale has reminded me that the New Year, with all its resolutions and fresh beginnings, is just another day of the year and that the possibilities of new beginnings exists every morning that we rise. A woman with a positive mental attitude is a woman who is strong, tough and courageous mentally. Someone who sees every difficulty but sees it realistically. This person is not stymied by adversity, setback or seemingly impossible condition. She knows that with God’s help, she will be able to see through, think through, pray through and overcome any difficulty. To the positive thinker, there is always a way, always an answer. To every tough problem, the positive thinker says quietly, “Yeah, I know, but......!” The bible says, “The things which are impossible with men are possible with God” Luke 18:27 or “I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me” Phil 4:13. The positive thinker just goes ahead and accomplishes her goals.

A negative thinker is a disbeliever. The positive thinker is a believer. One is full of self-doubt, the other is endowed with self-confidence. One gives up when confronted with difficulty, the other rises to the occasion when the going get tough. The negative thinker, by hopelessness, shuts off the flow of creative power. The positive thinker, drawing upon her faith in God and herself, opens wide the channel of inflowing power and creativity that produces amazing results. The negative thinker tends to see and thereby to cause, failure. The positive thinker imagines the possibilities and attracts success to herself and her projects.

Seize the day as a new beginning. Attract all that is good and possible. I know that you will. Our future is so incredible and the riches are beyond our imagination. Happiness and excitement are ours to enjoy throughout this wonderful journey.

I love you all and I carry your dreams in my heart.
